

Contents

---

“On the Difficulties of Conversion” by Joseph Gilbert...6

An article by Joseph Gilbert about the types of people who become fans, how current fans can convert them, and how some fans have helped bring down the quality of science fiction.

---

“Dead End” by Robert W. Lowndes...10

An article by Robert W. Lowndes about the meaning of science fiction, fandom, and the suicides of David R. Daniels and Joseph Francis Hatch, published before the Earl Singleton hoax.

---

“PSFS Members Witness Riot at QSFL Meeting!!”...19

An account of the action at the January 1941 QSFL meeting. Most likely written by Jack Agnew and Robert A. Madle.

---

“Let’s Write a Science Fiction Story” by Clifford D. Simak...21

Clifford D. Simak offers step-by-step advice to would-be science fiction authors.

---

“Boskone Tea Party” by Julius Unger...25

Julius Unger provides a detailed account of the first Boskone.

---

“The January Meeting of the Queens Science Fiction League”...29

Scott Feldman and Hyman Tiger provide their account of the eventful January meeting of the QSFL.

---

“Twelve Hours and Campbell” by Art Widner, Jr....33

Art Widner, Jr., gives a detailed account of an evening he and several other fans spent with John W. Campbell, Jr.

---

“Where to Sin in San Francisco” by Nicholas E. Kenealy...35

A fictional story by Nicholas E. Kenealy highlighting the various bawdy attractions of San Francisco as a pitch for the 1942 Worldcon.

---

“The Discovery of the Future” by Robert A. Heinlein...37

The transcription of Heinlein’s speech at the 1941 World Science Fiction Convention (Denvention).

---

“As the Wind Listeth.....” by D.B. Thompson...54

D.B. Thompson gives his report of the Denvention. Published in Fan-Atic, Volume 2, Number 1, July 1941.

---

“Marsie Hits L.A.” by Bill Crawford...56

Bill Crawford introduces the members of the LASFS.

---

“The Perils of Completeness” by Harry Warner, Jr....60

Harry Warner, Jr., talks about the trials and tribulations of collecting in an age when there is already so much material and some of it is hard to find.

---

“Los Angeles in 1942” by Julius Unger...64

Julius Unger gives a report from the Denvention announcing that Los Angeles won the bid for the 1942 Worldcon.

---

“Science Fiction Fans Decide to Form National Federation”...65

A reprint of a newspaper article talking about the Denvention and the formation of the NFFF.

---

““Strangers’ in Boston” by Robert W. Lowndes...66

Robert W. Lowndes gives his account of the first Boskone.

---

“Denvention Dope!” by E. Everett Evans...71

E. Everett Evans gives his own exhaustive account of the Denvention.

---

“Visiting Firemen Dept.” by Bob Tucker...76

Bob Tucker describes the “Getting Acquainted” conference in Michigan.

---

“Critique” by Phil Bronson...81

Phil Bronson reviews 12 fanzine, many bought at the Denvention.

---

“From the New York Communications Office” by Wilson Morely...85

Wilson Morely shares some stories from the Denvention, including the tale of the Hypnotized Prophet.

---

“My First Two Thousand Miles” by Robert A. Madle...88

Bob Madle gives his account of the Denvention.

---

“DenVer DeDays!” by Forrest J Ackerman...92

Forrest J Ackerman shares his report from the Denvention.

---

“The Conscientious Objection of Charles D. Hornig”...102

The essay Charles D. Hornig wrote for his Conscientious Objection application.

---

“Fanta-Notes” by Phil Bronson...105

Phil Bronson gives readers a recap of Denvention and updates on his fanzine and other happenings in his fan life.

---

“The Third Convention” by James “Rusty” Hevelin...107

James “Rusty” Hevelin gives his impression of the Denvention.

---

“Message to the Denvention” by Claude Degler...110

Claude Degler’s strange message for the attendees of the Denvention, allegedly from a Martian.

---

“Story behind the Message” by Claude Degler...114

Claude Degler provides some dubious context behind the Martian message to the Denvention.

---

“Comment on the Message” by Claude Degler...116

Claude Degler leans in even further to the Martian message.

---

“Infinite’s Fanographies” by Isaac Asimov...118

A short autobiography from Isaac Asimov.

---

“Denvention” by Mort Weisinger...120

Mort Weisinger gives a short account of the Denvention.

---

“Denver Post”...121

Forrest J Ackerman details a post-Denvention trip to Estes Park, his travel back from the convention to San Francisco, his first meeting with Tigrina, and eventual return to Los Angeles.

---

“A Paper Presented at Denvention” by E. Everett Evans...125

A transcript of a speech given by E. Everett Evans at the Denvention about fandom and the pursuit of a national fan organization.

---

---

“It Certainly Does Fugit” by Harry Warner, Jr....130

Harry Warner, Jr., talks about how much time it takes to be a fan, publishing fanzines, writing correspondence, and attending meetings.

---

“Visiting Firemen Dept.” by Bob Tucker...133

Bob Tucker shares an account of the “Getting Acquainted” conference.

---

“La Nova Femme” by Abby Lu Ashley...138

Abby Lu Ashley introduces readers to the women of science fiction fandom.

---

“Denvention Daze” by Milton A. Rothman...140

Milton A. Rothman provides his account of the Denvention.

---

“The Log of the FooFoo Special” by Art Widner, Jr....149

Art Widner, Jr., gives his epic account of fans traveling to and from the Denvention.

---

“The DENvention” by T. Bruce Yerke...159

T. Bruce Yerke gives his account of The Denvention.

---

“Denvention Recording” by Walter J. Daugherty...165

A list of recordings made at the Denvention. Unfortunately the recordings are lost to time.

---

“Dear Santa Claus-- Please Send:” by Jack Speer...167

A fannish Christmas comic/poem by Jack Speer. Published in Sustaining Program, Number 12, Winter 1941.

---

Michigan Conference Photo...168

A photograph of the attendees of the the 1941 Michigan Conference.